

The National Professional Qualifications have undergone reformation. The new curriculum requires coverage of six areas in both Senior and Middle Leader programmes; this equates to additional time in face to face sessions with facilitators. We are looking for 2 primary leaders with an interest in current leadership research and developing others, to join our successful facilitating team.

What it will involve

- One day facilitator training course at Lawrence Sheriff School in Rugby
- Planning and preparation time with co-facilitators
- Keeping up to date with research and leadership theory
- Facilitation of two modules: Increasing Capability and Working In Partnership – equating to up to 4 full days of facilitation per course

Benefits

- Opportunities to work with highly motivated leaders, sharing thoughts and reflections on current school issues
- Access to current well researched and highly regarded course materials
- Opportunities to network with colleagues from all phases
- Full financial reimbursement for any time taken out of school
- Support from an experienced and dedicated team, particularly in the beginning when they will work alongside new facilitators and arrange for them to observe sessions
